Bethef of Suicide-Rattroad M [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] RALKIGH, N. C., April 20.—In Stokes county Jerry Gilliam, a white man given to drinking hard, had been missing from his home some days.
Saturday searchers found his body in the woods. He had placed his neck in the crotch of a laurel-tree, and so hanged himself.
The work of surveying the new line of railroad from Greensboro' to Mount Airy progresses rapidly. It will be completed in ten days. The route is maid to be a good one.
Crop reports, which come from all parts of the State, continue to be of a much more hopeful character. It is probable that in many sections the wheat crop will be four times as good as was thought possible a month ago.
In many cases where wheat is ruined cotton or tobacco will replace it.
It is not at all probable that anything will be done this season in the way of fish-hatching. Since 1878 this has been an important part of the work of the Department of Agriculture. tets- Crep Ben has been an important part of the work of the Department of Agriculture. The hatchery is at Avoca for shad, and at Weldon for rockfish. The carpatchery is here, and will be continued. Definite reports are to the effect that Definite reports are to the effect that the peach crap is not at all damaged by the frosts of last week. The prospects are that with reasonable seasons the peach crop of the State will be a large and profitable one.

NORFOLK.

Killed with a Brick-A Coincidence.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., April 20.—Tomt Wilson and Ambrose Seymour (both colored) had a difficulty in Norfolk county Saturday night, during which county Saturday night, during which Wilson struck Seymour on the head and breast with bricks. Seymour died yesterday from his injuries, and the ctors say either blow would have killed him. Wilson was arrested and sent on to the grand jury to-day. Seymour was a prominent negro in his community, and his friends are much acensed against the murderer.

A British and a Russian man-of-war arrived in port to-day from Havana and the coincidence caused some sensation here owing to the present hostile attitude of these two countries, but the caparrival is purely accidental and has no

Three Englishmen.

Had Lord Dufferin been at Cork with the Prince and Princess of Wales their reception would brobably have been less hostile, for, despite his present position as a servant of the British Government, the Viceroy's name is still held in honor in south Munster on account of his gallant efforts to relieve the famine-stricken population of Skibbereen during the great crisis of 1846, when he was only twenty years of age. The incident of the onion flung at the royal carriage re-calls the ready jest with which an English member of Parliament pacifled some rather too free and in-dependent electors, who were pelting im with turnips : "Gentlemen, I do not in the least dispute your right to throw turnips at me, but, if you have no objection, I could wish to have them piled first." Equally happy was Lord Kimberley's answer to a bully who approached him at the head of a gang of roughs and declared fiercely that he would "sooner vote for the devil than for him." "I have not the slightest doubt of it, my good fellow, replied his lordship, quietly, "but in the event of your friend not coming forward may I count upon your vote?
